

2,845 Acres Already Signed in Montgomery

2,845 acres of tobacco have already been signed with the Co-Operative Tobacco Marketing Association and it is believed by the local organization that this is fully 75 per cent of the crop, however, this cannot be definitely known until the 1920 acreage is ascertained, and the local organization, as well as all other county organizations, now have instructions to get this information not only for 1920, but for this year also. This will entail a great deal of work on the various county organizations, and if the growers who have not signed will do so without further delay it will aid materially in completing the work.

It is confidently expected that 85 to 90 per cent of the crop will have been signed in this county by Saturday night. Reports must be made to the head office as soon as possible and for this reason growers are urged to act in the matter without further delay. Montgomery county is signing up faster than any other county in the Burley district and at a meeting held in Lexington Friday, Mr. Stone, vice chairman of the State Organization, cited the rapid progress being made in Montgomery county and urged other counties to follow our example.

The various precinct committees throughout the county are doing most excellent work, the banner precinct being Howards Mill, where 95 per cent has already been signed.

NOTICE

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the County Superintendent not later than September 17th at 9 o'clock A. M., for the erection of a school building at Side View. The County Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Plans and specifications on file in the office of Dr. Morton Faulkner.

WIND AND RAIN STORM

Monday afternoon about 1 o'clock the heavy thundering from the West together with the black boiling clouds presented a frightful indication of an approaching cyclonic storm. The wind was speeding a fearful gale, electricity played in the darkened clouds and in a few moments the electrical plant was silenced and all labor controlled by the electrical current was suspended. Electric light wires were brought to the ground by falling trees. The heavy wind and rain lasted for several hours, and though damaging to crops and in other ways, was a great help in a way. The roof of the residence on the A. M. Bourne farm, also the roof of his large tobacco barn were blown off and much damage done to his crop.

ELIZABETH SPENCER

Music lovers of this city will rejoice in the announcement that Elizabeth Spencer, the famous soprano, will give a concert at the Tabb Theatre on Thursday night, September 5.

Miss Spencer returns to the concert platform this year after an absence of several years. The years of silence, however, have not dimmed the beauty of the soprano voice which Mr. Thomas A. Edison once declared he thought to be the finest in the United States. Her tones are just as pure as ever, and the music lovers here are indeed fortunate that Miss Spencer has included Mt. Sterling in her itinerary.

The popularity of Elizabeth Spencer may be judged from the fact that when, after an absence of four years from the concert stage, it was announced that she was available for an extensive tour, her manager was immediately deluged with applications for her artistic services. There is not a shadow of doubt that Miss Spencer's concerts this season will duplicate her extraordinary successes of former years.

Assisting Miss Spencer at her concert here will be Mr. Emil Bertl, the well known pianist and accompanist.

This entertainment will be free and cards of admittance may be obtained from Mr. Chas. H. Long, who will be Mr. Edison's authorized dealer here and will have headquarters at The Ladies Specialty Shoppe.

The bride will be married in her traveling suit of navy blue tricotine, with hat to match, and her flowers will be pink rose buds and lilies of the valley. GOVERNOR MORROW IN CLOSE QUARTERS AT SEELBACH Late Sunday evening, while the great majority of the Kentucky metropolis were resting for the duties of another week the night watchman at the Seelbach discovered a heavy smoke emitting from a window of the hotel and in less time than we could write it that watchman was in the room of the Chief Executive, had caught him up in his arms and was soon in a place of safety. It is said that a lighted cigarette caused the excitement and danger.

WHO ARE SUBJECT TO THIS PROSECUTION?

Supplementing a recent opinion, in which he held that druggists who sell patent medicines that have been advertised from wagons in the street, the advertisers naming the druggists from whom the nostrums could be obtained, are subject to prosecution, Elwood Hamilton, attorney for the State Board of Health, now has handed Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer, another opinion in which he says that the person advertising the nostrums from the wagon is also subject to prosecution.

This opinion is based on the law which states that vendors of patent medicines must pay $100 for their licenses and then proceeds to strengthen this by declaring that it is immaterial whether the patent medicine is sold by the vendor or otherwise.

"Such a sale," Mr. Hamilton summed the situation up, "would undoubtedly subject the person advertising the medicines from the wagon to a penalty for failure to procure a license before making the sale."

In this connection the Kentucky druggist, the official organ of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association, contains this editorial comment:

"The writer agrees with Dr. McCormack that no reputable druggist would be a party to any scheme that would assist an itinerant vendor to distribute his worthless nostrums. But this profession, like others, contains some weak brothers who cannot resist clutching the almighty dollar, even if there is a question of their abiding by the law. It is for the benefit of our weaker brothers that we bring this matter before the druggists of the state."

LOCAL LEGIONNAIRES HONORED

The following members of the Montgomery County Post, American Legion, was honored at the State meeting held in Lexington Thursday and Friday: Ratliff H. Lane and C. T. Coleman were selected to serve on Convention Publicity Committee; Joe H. The local post was well represented at the Lexington meeting and from the above it will be seen the esteem in which they are held by their former comrades.

BACK FIRE

We heard a traveling salesman tell a good story that might apply to many men. He said while giving a display in a West Virginia town a customer told him of a dentist who always went to a nearby city to buy his clothes and while making his living off the people in one community was spending it in another without showing any increase in personal appearance. The merchant called the dentist one day and said, "Doc, who's the best dentist in that town?" Doc says, "Why?" Whereupon the merchant says, "I have several teeth that need attention and I wanted the best one up there to do the work." Buy at home and look better. The Walsh Co., Inc.

PEOPLE GOT WHAT THEY VOTED FOR—GOMPERS

When the American people voted the present national administration into office they got exactly what they decided they wanted. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, told a large crowd at Riverview Park, Baltimore, for the Labor Day celebration.

"Before that election," he said, "I issued a statement in which I stated the issues that were involved, so far as labor was concerned, and I said that the people would get exactly what they voted for. They made their choice between the candidates and parties and they have got what they decided upon."

"A year ago today there was scarcely a handful of men in this great country out of employment. Now there are more than five million out of work. Who will you blame for this condition? Will you blame the shadowy, indefinite thing of which you know nothing, or will you hold responsible those who are in commercial, industrial and political control of our country?"

Mr. Gompers declared that not a single bill, so far as he knew, had been introduced in the present Congress for the benefit of the working people.

We believe the worst is behind us. That the future holds nothing but good. Our optimistic spirit is shown by the large stocks of men's and boys' clothing and other wearing apparel carried by the Walsh Co.

TEACHING THROUGH PLAY

Is there a kindergarten in your community?

No? Then why not practice kindergarten principles in your own home? I do not mean by this that you must sit down and devote every second for three hours to your children. But teach your child while you are about your work. Teach him through play.

Today play is considered a great factor in education. "Play is the expression of awakening instincts." Watch your little girl with her doll. The doll is her baby and she is its mother. Through this play she is developing the instinct of mother love. Watch your little boy playing store or fireman. He, too, is preparing for future manhood. Let us then teach through play.

It is an acknowledged fact that the kindergarten gives a child certain advantages by cultivating self-confidence, the power of observation, originality of thought and other qualities.

Let us see if it is not possible for the mother to develop similar characteristics at home!

First, self-confidence: If the child asks to help with the dishes, make the bed or perform other little tasks do not be too busy to listen to the request. Accept the offer of assistance with thanks, even if the work takes longer or needs to be done over. Remember this is one of the ways of developing self-confidence and helpfulness. Discouragement will not cultivate self-confidence.

Second, ability to memorize and think: Children love anything that is rhythmic, whether the words are understood or not. Repeat or sing nursery rhymes and jingles to the children. Soon they will be repeating and singing them after you. Find the time during the day to read or tell them stories. Every child loves a story, especially if acted out.

Third, love of nature: When out for walks teach the children about the trees, flowers and birds. Nature can be known and loved in the parks of the city as well as in the woods and fields of the country. And reading nature stories supplements the first-hand knowledge the children are gaining, thus adding to their interest and appreciation.

Fourth, observation: This can be cultivated by giving a child magazines, calling his attention to the different pictures and pointing out every detail. Then as he studies for himself, not one thing in a picture, no matter how small, will escape his eye. And he will become observant not only of pictures, but of everything else about him.

Fifth, originality: With blocks the sandpile or plasticine (the latter can be purchased at stores carrying school supplies), a child can be instructed in the making of various objects. Soon he will branch out for himself, doing really creative work.

Sixth, cleanliness and orderliness: A child should be commended for picking up his toys when he has finished his play, having it impressed upon him that these toys are his responsibility. If notice is taken of his clean face and hands before and after meals, then constant reminding will not be necessary. Kind and gentle appreciation is an inspiration. Fretful criticism disheartens.

With my little two and a half year old daughter I have followed the kindergarten thought, including the above suggestions, and the results have been most successful.

FINANCING THE TOBACCO POOL — STANFORD JOURNAL

The Interior Journal notes with pleasure an article in the Lexington papers of Sunday, which states that Charles N. Manning, one of the most conservative bankers in that city, has obtained the signatures of practically all the bankers of Lexington to a statement endorsing the marketing plan of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-Operative Marketing Association and pledging to the association and the growers who join it, all the financial assistance in their power to grant on the financing of the crop.

Besides this, Mr. Manning gave out a letter from a great Southern banking institution whose purpose and business it is to encourage the marketing of Southern crops and which is affiliated with the War Finance Corporation, in which it asked if it could be of service in financing the needs of the burley tobacco growers in their movement for better prices.

These two things should clear up the situation in the Burley District, so far as it relates to the financing of the tobacco crop. The proposition is simply whether the burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia desire to follow the example of the California citrus fruit growers and Washington and Oregon apple producers and have a steady market year after year, or whether they will continue to flounder in the expensive confusion of a dumping market for their goods, without regard to the real needs or desires of the manufacturer.

So long as tobacco is marketed in the old way, dumped by the ton on a market, that long will it bring whatever price the buyers decide it is worth. Now is the time to mount a campaign. Organization Manager Joseph Passonneau, in charge of the campaign, is a trustworthy and diplomatic director. That has been demonstrated by his ability to unite every business interest in the tobacco pooling campaign. His associates are all men well and favorably known to the burley growers, men they have trusted in the past and trust now, men who have the confidence of the banking and other business interests whose sympathy is so essential to the success of the undertaking.

As we stated last fall, when the first proposition to combine and keep tobacco off the market was discussed, the growers have only to stand together to reach up and pick the golden apples off the tree of opportunity. If they fail to go together this time, it is extremely improbable that any such man of the stature of Judge Robert W. Birmingham, of Louisville, or Bernard M. Baruch, of New York, can be interested in any scheme to get them together for their own protection.

The farmer is not a wooden-headed fellow, as some ignorant people declare; he is simply independent, and that is why it is difficult to get him to combine even with his own fellows in any business transaction. Used to going it alone, taught always to depend upon himself, he, somehow or other fails to realize the importance, in this instance, of lining up, "all for one and one for all" in this campaign. We predict however, that he will take advantage of this opportunity, for the good of his home, his district and his state, for whatever injuries the farmer, as Mr. Manning well said in his statement in the papers, is of harm to the business and banking people who do business with him.

The Interior Journal hopes and believes that the seventy-five percent of the crop regarded as necessary to the success of the pool, will be pledged in time to make it effective for this year's crop, and that the growers will be able to obtain loans on their crops to an amount equal to what it would sell for in its entirety under the old system of marketing.

CORROSIVE SUBLIMATE STOPS SPUD SEED ROT

By treating their seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate before placing them in cold storage, a number of Jefferson county farmers have almost completely controlled the rotting of seed in the bins, according to reports by J. S. Gardner, field agent in vegetable gardening from the College of Agriculture. That the treatment is effective is shown by the fact that a number of growers who did not treat their tubers complained of a large amount of rot when they removed them from storage preparatory to planting the second crop. Seed treatment with corrosive sublimate solution to control scab is required in the regulations prepared for the guidance of the Jefferson County Certified Potato Seed Growers' Association, which was organized in June under the direction of the College extension division.

Further proof of the value of the seed treatment is shown by the fact that a number of growers who planted treated seed for their first crop find the percentage of scabby potatoes to be from 15 to 40 per cent instead of the customary 50 to 100 per cent. Following the good results obtained by the demonstrators in treating their seed a number of farmers are expected to adopt the new method, Mr. Gardner stated.

There may be "something rotten in Denmark," but you can't make a Virgin Islander believe it. His citizenship was changed overnight by sales treaty, then comes the Volstead act and makes him dry where climate says he should be moist, and on top of that comes the income tax demanding from him what he hath not!

"THE HOME OF DRAPERIES"

WE ARE ON EVE OF GREAT RECONSTRUCTION BOOM!

Do you remember the fall of 1914? A great many business men behaved then as if they thought the world was coming to an end. Well, we lived to see that very period the beginning of the greatest era of prosperity the country had known up to that time!

We now go on record stating our frank belief that the United States is once more approaching a great reconstruction boom. It is admitted that inflation is invariably bound to cause hardship, but business activity all over the world is scraping the bottom of the present depression.

Everything moves in cycles. The waves of gold that are rolling in on us from abroad will certainly encourage deflation. That means rising commodity prices and, of course, rising stock prices. Our Federal Reserve ratio is now very high; in other words, money, credit and gold are rising and outstanding loans are decreasing.

Where is all this money going to? We feel sure it is going to build homes and office buildings and other needed housings. We feel sure this activity is going to bring prosperity to the railroads, or at least that the railroads will be placed in such a position, due to the 12 per cent wage cut and 20 per cent freight increase, as to enable them to buy much needed equipment of iron and steel in large quantities. We know that our public utility companies are in great need of brass, copper and zinc. We know that Germany could use a great deal of copper and cotton. The de-control of food products in Europe and in this country will result in a higher per capita consumption and higher prices to farmers.

Meanwhile, the world is in our debt, and if it means anything to an individual to have interest payments coming to him on principal loaned out, then it must mean much to a nation in this position.

Six months from now we will be looking back at the foolish fears of the public at this time, wondering how we could ever imagine that such companies as U. S. Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker, International Paper, Allis Chalmers, Central Leather and Bethlehem Steel were headed any other way than prosperity, with a capital P.

Akron Citizen Expects to Always Give Tanlac the Highest Praise
For Restoring His Health

"Tanlac has helped me so much that I've told all my friends about it, and I expect to always give it the highest praise," said B. F. Foust, of 194 Park avenue, Akron, Ohio.

"My stomach got out of order three days ago, and I commenced bloating so bad after meals that it almost cut off my breath. I had severe pains through my chest when it seemed that I could hardly stand it, and nights I often had smothering spells when it seemed that my time had surely come. I often had to get out of bed and sit up the rest of the night in order to get my breath. I was hardly able to drag around and always felt drowsy and tired."

"But after taking three bottles of Tanlac I was entirely relieved of all that stomach trouble, and was eating everything I wanted without a bit of pain or distress. I went to work every day and had such a fine appetite and felt so well I actually seemed like a different man. I sleep the whole night through and never have a weak spell. I am only too glad to say a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

OIL PRODUCTION DOUBLES IN ONE SINGLE DECADE

Here are figures that speak for themselves. The world's oil production in 1904 was 218,204,000 barrels and in 1910 it had increased to 328,000,000 barrels. The war demand jumped production to 508,687,000 barrels in 1917, and the 1920 production was officially estimated at 688,474,000 barrels. In other words the world's production of oil has more than doubled in the decade closing last year!

The production of crude petroleum in the United States back in 1904 was only 117,081,000 barrels. By 1910 this production had grown to 209,557,000 barrels and in 1917 it amounted to 355,316,000 barrels. The 1920 production is placed by the U. S. Geological Survey at 443,492,000 barrels. Consumption in the United States did not exceed production in 1911. In that year the consumption was 211,000,000 barrels and the production 220,449,000 barrels. In 1916, however, our consumption of petroleum exceeded production by almost 19,000,000 barrels. During 1920 the consumption of crude petroleum in the United States amounted to 531,186,000 barrels and our production was only 443,492,000 barrels. Hence, we say, that the United States is probably dependent upon imports to meet the enormous consumption needs. Evidently there is a big demand for oil right here in America.

ATTORNEY GENERAL DAUGHERTY

Makes this logical declaration which is in perfect accord with an editorial published in the Advocate a few days ago. Mr. Daugherty evidently had in mind the prohibition law when he made the following avowal:

"To refuse or to neglect to enforce a valid enactment of the legislative department of the government, or to enforce it mechanically or half-heartedly, or to wink at its violation, is without justification on any sound theory of government. Those who ask it or expect it not only contribute to lawlessness but destroy the basis upon which their own security rests. Our safety and happiness lies in obedience to law by every man, woman and child within the domain of the Republic, and no one can undermine respect for law without being, to that extent, an enemy of law and orderly government. . . . If laws are obnoxious to the people, it is their province to repeal them. Until they are repealed they must be observed and enforced without fear or favor. . . . The government will endure upon the rock of law enforcement; or it will perish in the quicksand of lawlessness."

These are our sentiments, whether the laws apply locally or to the nation, it does not make any difference. There are city laws that go disregarded and sometimes the officials that enforce thoughtlessly disregard when they of all other citizens, should be strictly obedient to ordinances and statutes. If the enactment of the greatest worth to the people are to be enforced those of lesser interest must be regarded.

A GENTLEMAN

There is a long definition to this word, a gentleman. Should we analyze the word, gentleman, giving the constituent parts, we find the word susceptible of division—Gentle and Man. Take up first the word man, now man indicates more than form; its real worth carries with it respectability and character, and the word gentle has as one of its elements well born, of good or noble birth. Combine the words gentle and man and you have gentleman, conveying in meaning a noble birth, character. Turn the lights on and he who perceives that he does not have these attainments should strive for them or drop into the circle where he is most comfortable. Another has said a gentleman is he who plays fair in the strenuous game of life; who is clean of body, mind and soul; who associates with honest men; who is courteous to friend and foe; who is too chivalrous to wound the feelings of others, and too sensible to lower his respect for himself; whose hopes and dreams are founded on the rock of determination; who looks you straight in the eye, who meets victory without boasting, defeat without bitterness and all life with a smile; who loves his friends, his country and his God—is a gentleman. The world has many gentlemen. They are known by their walks and their conversation. Are you a gentleman? Ask your neighbors.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

The last days of the past week the Strother Motors Company sold two of their best Fords, the sedans. This company weakened a little bit, but the Advocate gave advice to pull hard and to pull now if they would reap. What is the lesson? Never give up! The old time sail ship is the object lesson. Know the changing winds and ply your sails accordingly. With adverse conditions come the time for increasing power. This reconstructing period has not been managed according to our way of thinking, but whatever of good there is in it we are going to share with others and will keep on pulling. We appeal to our people to pull with us, at the same end of the rope. Heave, all together, do it now and in these united efforts crops will move profitably, dinner pails will fill and the business world will be happy.

THE CO-OPERATIVE TOBACCO SALES MOVEMENT

This movement is being heartily entered into and we believe it a wise one. All business men seem to favor it and when all business interests demand that tobacco or any other product shall bring a price above the expense of production, it has a power hard to resist. There is a united effort today by all professions and callings to swing the tobacco interest into its real worth, but if the buyers should become tyrannical, refusing to pay a living price for the weed, then the matter reverts to the growers, who, with a firm organization, can so organize as to buy their own crops, manufacture and sell to the consumer. The growers are amply able to do this and if the buyers come at them in an organized opposition they will be forced to care for themselves by protecting their own interests in this way, but this bridge will not be crossed until it is reached.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, makes the following announcement:

"We are making another reduction in the prices of Ford cars and the Ford truck, effective today. The new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

	New Price	Old Price	Amount of Reduction
Chassis	$295.00	$345.00	$50.00
Runabout	$325.00	$370.00	$45.00
Touring Car	$355.00	$415.00	$60.00
Truck	$445.00	$495.00	$50.00
Coupe	$595.00	$695.00	$100.00
Sedan	$660.00	$760.00	$100.00

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making total reductions in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. the same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of the Ford Sedan was $975; today it lists at $660, with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247, was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer?

Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type of car in which you are interested.

CLEAN-UP SQUAD TO AID THE EX-SERVICE MEN

When the Sweet bill passed, which combined the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, U. S. Public Health Service and Federal Board for Vocational Education under one head and which is now known as the Veterans' Bureau, Colonel C. R. Farber, director, said: "Take the Bureau to the ex-service man; don't make him come to the Bureau." Immediately Captain William Coffin, manager of District Seven, comprising Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, organized three clean-up squads, one for each state. The Kentucky squad is now operating in Covington and will move to the second floor of the Bassett building, Main and Mill streets, Lexington, September 1st and remain there throughout the tenth of the month. Its purpose will be to adjust all ex-service men's claims in Fayette, Harrison, Scott, Nicholas, Bourbon, Clark, Madison, Jessamine, Woodford, Anderson, Franklin and Montgomery counties. The squad consists of two Medical Examiners, one Compensation and Insurance Claims Examiner and a member from the district forces, together with a representative of the American Legion and the American Red Cross. The purpose of the squad is to adjust all ex-service men's claims against the government, including back pay, liberty bonds, compensations, medical aid, Vocational training etc. Every ex-service man in the eleven counties is urged to report to the Bassett building during the ten days, if he has any claim whatsoever against the government.

It is important that he bring with him discharge and all correspondence in regard to such claims. All claims are sent in to Mr. Coffin each evening and he in turn wires them in to Washington, where they have a special section for clean-up squad cases and these cases are never laid aside until they are completely settled. Thursday, September 8th, is Madison county day.

BURLEY DRIVE OF TWO WEEKS IS SUCCESSFUL

More than 50,000,000 pounds of tobacco set as the goal for the two weeks' drive of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-Operative Association, was secured by the workers, according to the reports from the counties in which organization has been started, made at a meeting of county chairmen in the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, last Friday.

The exact number of pounds contracted to the association was 52,001,684. Judge Robert W. Bingham, chairman of the organization committee, made a brief address, in which he gave credit for what had been done to Vice Chairman James C. Stone and the workers, who, he said, had done much to put over the biggest thing for Kentucky in a long time in an industrial way. In only a few of the counties rearing has there been any intensive campaign and a number of counties still are unorganized, it was said, particularly those in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

Judge Bingham told of his recent trip to Europe and of his study of the Danish system of co-operative marketing at the selling end of the line—London. "The Danes would not think of selling in any other way," he said, "Nor would the English think of buying in any other way."

Judge Bingham told of the great reconstruction work done on the farms of France. He said that in his army was his nephew, a young man who had been in the aviation service of the army and who had flown over some of these very fields and had seen them churned up by the shells when all that was left of the villages was rust and the chalk sub-soil so cut up it seemed impossible that anything could ever be done with it.

He said the young man was hardly able to believe his eyes when he saw what had been accomplished by the farmers of France in restoring their lands to fertility. He said he made inquiry among the people as to how they had been able to achieve this miraculous change and had learned that it was done because "we didn't have to worry over the marketing of our products," to use the reply of the French villagers and farmers. He said that they used the co-operative system of marketing and had made a success of it.

Judge Bingham said that on his return from Europe he had noticed in New York city a crowd about a booth on Broadway. Investigating, he learned that the occupants of the booth were selling California orange juice. He said he remained about the booth with his party for about 20 minutes and in that time saw 500 glasses of this orange juice sold at 10 cents a glass. Scattered about New York, he said, there were hundreds of these booths and the California Co-Operative Marketing Association sold in this way millions of oranges by developing a new market for their product. It showed the possibilities of salesmanship in developing a new demand for products, he said.

Judge Bingham told of Mr. Sapiro's interesting the War Finance Corporation on farm financing to aid the cotton and California fruit growers and said he did not think there was the slightest doubt of its getting behind the tobacco growers, along with the federal reserve banks, as well as all the banks in the Burley district.

"There is no question of financing the crop," said Judge Bingham. "Sixty per cent of the 1920 crop is close to $5 per cent of the crop this year. Never in my life have I had more confidence in a thing going over and going over big than I have had and now have in this movement, and you men who are doing it are doing the biggest thing in a business way that has ever been done for Kentucky."

Others who spoke of the meeting were Vice Chairman Stone; Sam P. Clark, of Courton; John B. Crockett, of Bath; Robert S. Walker, of Woodford; Clark B. Patterson, Montgomery; Buford E. Allen and Chas. M. Marshall, Fayette; John Bell, Bourbon; Ralph M. Barker, of Carrollton.

Mr. Stone said that Judge Bingham had made possible the movement to unite the growers and Mr. Bingham paid high tribute to the work of Judge Bingham and that of his newspapers in aiding the success of the enterprise. It was said that the organization of the counties in Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, as well as of the unorganized counties in Kentucky, would be pushed immediately, with the view to bringing about the permanent organization at as early date as possible.

Another meeting of the chairmen and of the executive committee of the association will be held in Lexington within the next few weeks, vice chairman Stone announced. The report by counties shows the

HARD WINTER COMING!

That next winter will be a cold one is the indication of weather data compiled by Dr. C. F. Brooks, formerly meteorologist of the Federal Weather Bureau and now associate professor of meteorology and climatology at Clark University.

An analysis of the weather records of more than a century indicates that we are experiencing a series of alternations of severe and warm winters. Last fall, on the basis of his investigation, Dr. Brooks said that winter would be warm. It was.

Now he says that it is not unreasonable to expect that next winter will be a cold one, and that the winter of 1922-23 will be a warm one. He who would be wise would lay in his coal.

SUCCESS SEEN FOR LEAF IN NEW MARKETING PLAN

Favorable reports continue to come in at the offices of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-Operative Association, Lexington, in regard to the progress of the campaign to sign up 75 per cent of the tobacco crop of the Burley district under the new marketing plan proposed by the association. A contributing factor in the success of the new organization is the low price of tobacco last year and another is the low price being paid on the South Carolina and North Carolina markets this year.

Heretofore the price of Southern tobacco has been higher than that of Burley. This year, according to official reports from North and South Carolina, published in the Western Tobacco Journal, of Cincinnati, and other trade papers, South Carolina tobacco is averaging but a small fraction over 8 cents a pound and North Carolina leaf but little over 7 cents a pound, less than a third of prices paid for tobacco in July last year. These facts have had a tendency to awaken the burley grower to the seriousness of his situation, since there is no reason apparent for believing that the manufacturers will run their business this year in a different way from previous years, and if that proves to be true, the price of burley tobacco will not reach even last year's figure.

Recent developments in the matter of financing the proposed marketing association included the declaration in favor of the plan by the Kentucky Bankers' Association, the statement of the federal reserve board that bank members of the federal reserve system would have the backing of the federal reserve banks in the handling of tobacco warehouse receipts, and the offer of aid from the War Finance Corporation and financial institutions operating under its direction.

Judge Robert W. Bingham, Louisville, who has financed the preliminary organization of the growers, a few days ago urged that the organization be completed immediately, so that it might share in the financing plans of the War Finance Corporation, which has a fund of one billion dollars in its hands to finance agricultural enterprises.

Following an address by J. Campbell Cantrill at Maysville Tuesday, 154,000 pounds of tobacco was contracted to the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-Operative Marketing Association. Chairman Stanley Reed, of Mason county, said the reason for this comparatively small amount was that it happened that most of the growers in the audience had already signed the contract.

James N. Kehoe, Maysville's leading citizen, banker and tobacco grower himself, exerts a wide influence in Mason, and it is likely that county will pool its quota soon after the success of the movement in Central Kentucky counties is assured, which is expected to be by the end of the present week. The letter of Judge Bingham urging immediate action so as to profit by the financing plans of the War Finance Corporation, also is having a good effect.

HOGGING DOWN CORN IS PROFITABLE BUSINESS

With indications pointing toward a low price for corn and a fair price for hogs during the coming fall, Kentucky farmers can market their grain and produce pork in no better way than by turning hogs into their corn fields to hog off the crop, according to swine specialists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. This method of fattening swine involves less labor in feeding and harvesting and is therefore more economical and in addition results in the greatest returns from manure and crop residues. The hogs are also kept in a more healthy environment and should make more rapid gains when prepared for the market in this manner.

Experiments conducted by the station show that tankage fed in a self feeder as a supplement to corn made the best combination for hogging off purposes. By this method of feeding the animals were kept healthier and were ready for the market earlier than those fed by the other methods. The corn and tankage produced an average daily gain of 1.475 pounds of pork on the animals which received it.

Corn and soybeans grown together and hogged off also made a good combination, this system of feeding resulting in an average daily gain of a little more than one pound of pork on all animals in the lot. The six-year average obtained by the station in hogging down soybeans with an allowance of two and one-half per cent of the body weight of the hogs in corn daily resulted in an average production of 681 pounds of pork on acre with a net profit of $15.97 an acre. Corn alone when hogged off produced an average daily gain of a little more than three-fourths of a pound of pork.

Results obtained in the experiment indicate that it is best to use hogs weighing about 100 pounds in hogging off fields. If the animals are smaller than this they are unable to get the corn down, while larger animals do not make as economical gains. From general observations, made in the experiments it pays to start hogging down corn and soybeans about the time the beans are in the dough stage, putting enough animals in the field to clean up the crop in about 35 or 40 days. When corn alone is hogged down the animals should be turned into the field as soon as the grain has passed the glazed stage.

WEBSTER CHILLS FAIL TO PRODUCE A SINGLE EGG

Thirteen hens in the flock of 35 Barred Plymouth Rocks owned by Mrs. J. K. Bridges, Kenton county, ran true to form and failed to produce an egg during the week following their removal from the flock as chills, according to a report which she has just made on a demonstration conducted on her hens by the poultrymen from the College of Agriculture. The week previous to the demonstration the 35 hens produced a total of 41 eggs, while the 22 birds which were retained as layers, produced a total of 50 eggs during the seven days following the demonstration. As a result of the demonstration a number of farmers in that vicinity are expected to cull their flocks in order to remove the hens that have stopped laying to loaf until spring.

CHILDREN FIRST!

Directors of the Louisville Board of Trade cannot be too highly commended for their action taken on Wednesday in unanimously adopting resolutions in protest against efforts by politicians to defeat the proposed constitutional amendments intended to divorce Kentucky schools from Kentucky politics.

These proposed amendments mean simply that the intelligence and the conscience of Kentucky realize that the child is, as educators of the country well understand, "the ward of the state," and that this ward shall be diligently protected in all rights and in all privileges guaranteed by law and sanctioned by enlightened public opinion.

Within the last forty years every forward-looking country has come to recognize that "the wealth of a nation" consists not in corn or cattle, in gold or lumber, in manufactures or agriculture, but rather in the people who inhabit it and the more especially in its young people.

Kentucky's riches are neither few in number nor scant in variety. The State's most precious possession is its youth, its children. The mind and heart of Kentucky are awake to the fact that these children must have their chance in life; must have the best chance that money and talent can command; that each child in Kentucky of whatever race, creed or section shall have the best possible chance to learn not only how to make a living, but also how to live, and that the opportunity for sound education shall not be denied the humblest of Kentucky's children.

This is Kentucky's will. The Louisville Board of Trade has detected the effort that is now making in certain circles to defeat this high resolution of the people of the South and has promptly ranged itself on the right side of the fight, if there is to be a fight.

At the November election the voters of Kentucky will be called upon to choose between the welfare of the children on the one hand and the selfish ambitions of professional politicians on the other. Upon such an issue the children should be the first, last and only consideration.

Chiropractic Restores Louisville Child's Sight on Eve of Surgical Operation Monday, August 29th

(AN EXPLANATION)

How sight was restored to 5-year-old Reba Jackson, suddenly blinded while at play, just as the child was being prepared to undergo a surgical operation in hope of relief from the mysterious cause of her condition, was told by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Jackson, at her home, 311 Central avenue, yesterday. The touch of a doctor's hands, the "crackling sound of bones snapping into place," relieving pressure from a hidden nerve, and the blind child saw, the mother said.

"I'm blind. I can't see you, mother!" Reba cried, staggering into her home August 12 from her play. The little hands were feeling along the walls and staircase. No one knew what had happened except that darkness had closed down on a pair of bright eyes.

Physicians and surgeons consulted and decided an operation would reveal and relieve the difficulty, as the symptoms indicated the formation of pus behind the seat of vision. Two openings in the skull over the temples would provide a drain and perhaps give back the lost vision.

Then friends hethought them of a practitioner, who, with his hands, they said, sometimes cured mysterious troubles found due to unnatural pressure on nerves, while the entire congregation of Mrs. Jackson's church offered special prayers for the afflicted child and her distressed mother.

Mrs. Jackson summoned the practitioner the day before Reba was to undergo the operation. "He just cracked several vertebrae near the neck into place," the mother said. "Reba thought then she saw a light flash across her eyes, but could not distinguish objects." Next day the nurse came from the hospital to take her there.

"Mother, what are you doing? My eyes are opening—I can see daylight. Why, you are rubbing your cheek," the child cried. Her sight was restored. The nurse went back to the hospital and a happy woman hugged her baby, who could once more see. Mrs. Jackson is a widow with three children and conducts a rooming house next door to the South Louisville police station.

This article appeared in The Herald Monday morning and was widely discussed during the day. Much speculation was indulged in as to how, and by whom, my little girl's vision was restored. Many seemed to get the impression that it was Christian Science or some form of "laying on of hand" or a faith cure, as I had mentioned to the reporter that the entire congregation of my church had prayed for Reba. I did not intend to convey the thought that my daughter's eyes were miraculously restored—while it seemed almost like a miracle. I believe in giving credit where credit is due, and I believe the public is entitled to know the truth about this case, as it has been presented in somewhat of a mysterious way in the newspaper. Dr. W. H. Dunn, a Chiropractor, of 216 Norton Building, adjusted the bones in Reba's neck and her vision returned. She was so completely blind that she could not distinguish the brightest light. Words cannot express my appreciation for what Chiropractic has done for Reba, and I am publishing this so that the public may know to whom belongs the credit for restoring my little daughter's sight. Dr. Dunn used nothing but his hands to perform the operation and it was done in a few seconds.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

A FARMER carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The farmer looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

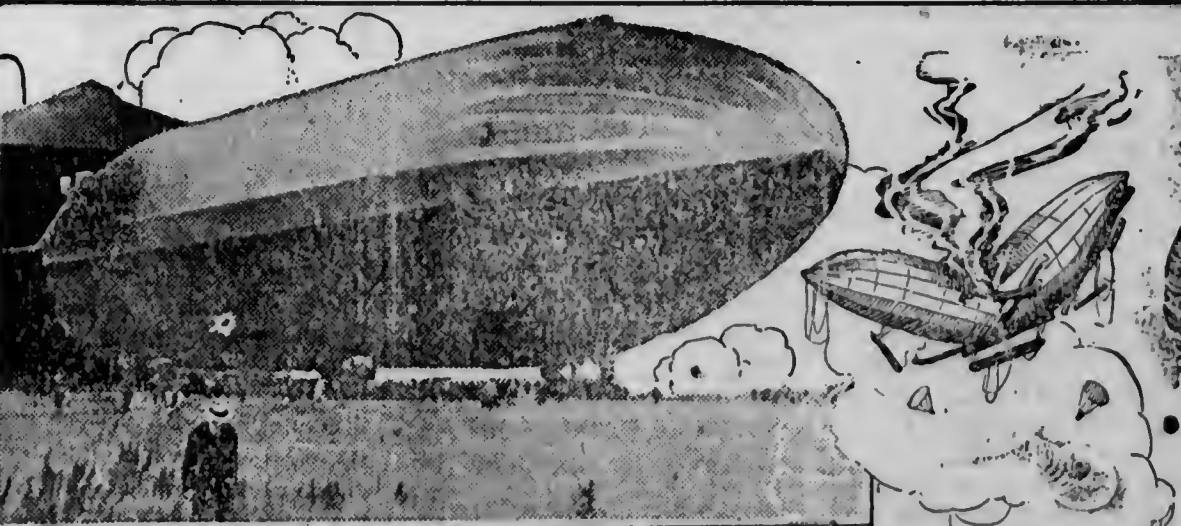

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."

LAST PICTURES OF GREATEST AIRSHIP WHICH FAILED

The greatest air tragedy in the history of aviation, the collapse of the dirigible ZR-2 in England, when 45 perished, 17 of whom were American aviators, will not stop the U. S. in its air programme, it is announced at Washington. But Americans will build all of our future dirigibles and we will purchase no more foreign-made craft. These pictures are the last of the ill-fated craft. Upper left shows navy men leading the biggest dirigible ever built from its hangar for the trial flight. Lower picture is an official navy picture of a group of the American crew which went across to bring the monster across the Atlantic from England. The sketch shows the great steel girders buckling and the ship as it collapsed.

The Walsh Company (Incorporated) Clothing, Hats, Shoes & Furnishings For Men and Boys

The Walsh Company, Incorporated, Clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishings for Men and Boys, will not curtail stocks. Jno. J. Walsh, president of the company, believes in keeping business up to the highest pre-war levels. "We shall continue on even a broader plane; our stocks for fall shall be larger than those of 1917," says Mr. Walsh. "Prices now have reached the low mark for many seasons to come; retail stocks throughout the country in no line would inventory over half the former pre-war value or size. Manufacturers have no supplies and production of fall goods was begun very late this year with a failure of mills to deliver raw materials creates a further shortage stabilizing present price quotations for seasons to come. Organization is the watch-word and when you have organized manufacturing and organized labor you will not see the pendulum swing very far out of balance, and besides all inflation was taken out of prices December 20 and January 21, when the big Eastern bankers told the jobber and manufacturers to clear the decks and pay up (or in other words to get for home and come back and make it a little higher rate). These fellows are taking no chances with fancy prices now. The drubbing they got has helped to bring prices back to normal. We are going right on as of old. Here you will find what you want in all lines with no curtailment.
